

Democratic Candidates visit Park and Big Horn County Dems

Scott Morrow, Democratic candidate for US Senate

Larry Alwin, Democratic candidate for Wyoming House district 28

Kyle “El” Cameron, Democratic candidate for US House of Representatives

Park and Big Horn County Democrats were invited to attend a forum with three of the Democratic candidates running for office in this election cycle. Each candidate addressed the group, and took questions from them. Among the issues they addressed:

SCOTT MORROW:

Social security fairness

Women’s rights

Honoring unions and union members and supporting fair labor practices

Respecting areas of agreement with Senator Barrasso and Representative Hageman

Concern about the financial support we are providing for Israel’s bombing of Gaza

Article 1 section 38 of the Wyoming Constitution, which underscores the right for all competent adults to make their own healthcare decisions

LARRY ALWIN:

Women’s rights, both in terms of health care and beyond

Education—full funding and support, from Pre-K to Post-Secondary

Support for the travel and tourism industries that are a major source of revenue for Wyoming

Access to quality and effective health care, including for those who have difficulty paying, including Medicaid expansion

Property tax fairness—constitutional amendment to freeze

property taxes for retirees and those on fixed incomes

Defending the right to marry regardless of sexual orientation

Open primaries and rank choice voting

KYLE CAMERON:

Reproductive rights, supported by 4th amendment freedom from unlawful searches

Healthcare: medicare expansion, and inclusion of dental health in health care plans

Workers rights—raising minimum wage to a livable wage, and supporting workers right to stand up for themselves with or without a union

Upgrades to transportation, including rail through northern Wyoming

Climate change is here. What can we do to go forward?

Housing shortages and alternative climate friendly building materials.

Water and sewer upgrades to increase safety for citizens
